

Lewes in Bloom

August Beauty Spot Award

Chris King was our August Beauty Spot winner. Chris moved into her 1935 Craftsman home two years ago. Although a small lot, she used crepe myrtles, a mural painted fence and trellises to create division and privacy.

September Beauty Spot Award

Located on Carneros Ave., in the Nassau Grove neighborhood of Lewes, Mary and Dan Jaycock designed their garden incorporating visual lines of emphasis through the use of color, shape, and texture that proves to be a real show-stopper.

Please visit our website for photos of these and other Beauty Spot winners.

LIB Wreath Sale

Continuing a Lewes tradition, Lewes in Bloom will once again sell live wreaths.

You can order online at www.lewesinbloom.org starting October 12.

Many Thanks for Your Generosity

Bucks for Blooms has been a great success thanks to the support from the community.

A Big Huge Thank You to those of you who generously donated and helped us reach and exceed our goal of $50,000. LIB can continue our work and make plans for next year!

CLG Scarecrow and StoryWalk®

Come visit Lewes, the resident scarecrow, in the Children's Learning Garden in Stango Park. The scarecrow and the crow resting on his arm share a friendship and demonstrate how powerful helping others can be. Along with some cold weather vegetables, mums and pansies make this a delightful area for families and children of all ages to visit and take selfies. While you are there, make sure to check out the StoryWalk®, a joint project with the Library. The book is "The Scarecrow", by Beth Ferry, and illustrated by the Fan Brothers. The story can be heard on the LIB Facebook page.

Fall Decorating Second Street

On October 1, downtown Lewes was turned into a fall scene right out of the Hallmark Channel. Members of the LIB Decorating Committee spent several weeks planning this activity so it would coincide with the pulling of the annuals. Areas decorated include the planters on Second Street and at City Hall, as well as Citizens Bank, Mary Vessels Park, and 1812 Park.
